Test Me!
 Immuno Laboratories, Inc.

You're almost there! Right now is the perfect time take greater control of your health and truly feel better! Different foods break down at different speeds, causing different toxic reactions depending upon the food and your personal body chemistry. Therefore, without scientific testing, it is very difficult to judge which foods cause which reactions and when. The latest trendy diets may be good for general information, but everyone's system is different. Find out which foods are toxic to your particular system, this will help you be healthier and more energetic than ever before.

Don't miss this special opportunity to receive a substantial savings on our world-renowned food sensitivity test. Click here to arrange for your special test offer. Or call us direct at 1-800-231-9197 x6555 and mention the code included on your special offer post card.

For over 25 years Immuno Laboratories has helped hundreds of thousands of people overcome more than 75 various symptoms associated with food toxicity. An ongoing study reveals that 95% of the population has what is known as a "type two" toxic reaction (IgG response) to common everyday foods that you eat regularly. Unfortunately the foods that cause this toxic shock vary widely according to your individual system. And "type two" reactions are delayed reactions so they are very difficult to detect on your own.

Partial Symptoms List

- ADD/ADHD
- Arthritic pain
- Asthma
- Autism
- Candida infections
